Headline:
Turning unsettled later in the week.

Today:
A cloudy day with spells of patchy drizzle at times, and turning more widespread in the west during the afternoon. The south will see a risk of some patchy frost in the early morning. Turning breezier in the north. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Some clear spells far north but cloudy elsewhere with patchy drizzle possible. Winds gradually ease overnight, and a band of rain will move across the country from the west. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Wednesday:
Outbreaks of light rain soon clearing to the southeast in the morning, leaving conditions largely dry with sunny intervals. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Showers with hail and thunder on Thursday and Friday. Stronger winds on Friday and feeling colder with wintry showers on the hills. Drier on Saturday, with showers and winds easing.
